HONGKONG, MARCH 5TH 1909.

When the British residents of Weihaiwei some time ago sent a petition to the Home Government inquiring whether there was any probability of the rendition of that Dependency to China, Lord Elgin replied: "His Majesty's Government do not feel called upon to discuss hypothetical questions." It seems not improbable however, that His Majesty's Government will be unable much longer to delay that discussion. As is generally known China, in 1898, agreed to lease Weihaiwei and the adjacent waters to Great Britain "for so long as Port Arthur shall remain in the occupation of Russia." At that time no one dreamed that any foreign Power would be likely to oust Russia from territory which she had rapidly fortified to an extent that led the world to regard Port Arthur as an impregnable fortress. Sir CLAUDE MACDONALD and the British Government took it for granted that Russia was settled at Port Arthur for at least the full term of the lease, which was twenty-five years, subject to extension by mutual agreement, and doubtless assumed that if the leased territory ever did again pass into other hands the only possibility was that Russia might at some future date give it back to China. That was a possibility that looked at that time extremely remote, because Russia had obtained the "usufruct" of Port Arthur and Talienwan, on account of "it being necessary for the due protection of her Navy in the waters of North China, that Russia should possess a station she could defend." The Japanese repudiated to be impugned capitulated after a long siege to the Japanese and the Navy for whose protection it was acquired was annihilated in the Straits of Tushima by the Japanese Fleet under Admiral Togo. With Japan in possession of Port Arthur, Great Britain's lease of Weihaiwei by a technical interpretation of the agreement came to an end, but the Chinese Government has not yet asked for the surrender of the territory and it still therefore remains a British possession. Yesterday, however, we published a Chinese telegram which announced that Prince Su had memorialised the Throne asking that instructions might be given to the Waiwupu to open up negotiations with the British Minister for the rendition of Weihaiwei. Prince Su is at the head of a small Committee of Investigation into the naval needs of the Empire. Associated with this Highness in this inquiry are Prince TAI TZI, H. E. TAN LING (President of the Waiwupu), Admiral Sun and Prince CHING. The Throne has already approved a recommendation for the creation of a Board of Admiralty, and we have been hearing recently of decisions on the part of Prince Su's committee to establish naval colleges and of recommendations for the appointment of competent naval advisers. And now we have the Prince asking for the rendition of Weihaiwei, that it might again become a Chinese naval base. At present Weihaiwei is not a profitable appanage of the British Empire. That is to say it is not self-supporting, and so long as the present uncertainty exists as to the tenure of the place by Great Britain there is little prospect of capital being attracted to develop the commercial possibilities of the place. Now that the question of the surrender has been raised in a memorial to the Throne there is some likelihood of a pronouncement being made by the Government of Great Britain on the subject. Though Lord Elgin in his reply to the residents of Weihaiwei twelve months ago spoke of the rendition to China of this "superfluous" for the troops "as a hypothetical question," we can hardly assume that the position had not been considered since the fall of Port Arthur. There can be little doubt that the late Government in England had made up its mind as to what action should be taken in the event of its surrender being requested by China, but it was hardly a matter on which they could bind their successors in office. This may explain why no pronouncement has heretofore been made on the subject, and it seems also to explain Lord Elgin's description of it as a "hypothetical question." In the life time of the present Government the question of the surrender of Weihaiwei has not been raised until now, and so far there is yet no sanction from the Throne for the opening of the negotiations.

There is to be a Volunteer Church Parade at Union Church on Sunday morning.

Singapore papers report the death of Mr. Edward Sandemann, one of the oldest residents born in Singapore.

While loading coal on a lighter in the Naval Yard yesterday, a Chinese fell into the hold, a distance of ten feet, and was killed instantly.

The annual inspection of the Volunteer Corps by His Excellency the General Officer Commanding the Troops will take place on Saturday the 27th March.

At the Magistracy yesterday Mr. J. H. Kemp fined a boatman $2 for failing to fill in his armament return. He carried one rusty blunderbuss which was more ornamental than useful.

The ninth case of plague in the Colony since the 1st of January was notified yesterday. This case, like most of the others, was from Kowloon City. No case has yet occurred in the city of Victoria.

Lady Lugard continues to make able progress towards recovery from her very serious illness, but as her ladyship is too weak yet to walk away across her room, the date of her departure for England has not yet been definitely settled.

A Chinese engineer residing at Cross Street, Wanchai, who has been unable to obtain employment for some time, was found dead in his house yesterday. It is believed that he committed suicide by taking opium.

"The Silver King" should claim many admirers to-morrow night. The Kowloon Amateurs are likely to show an advance on their previous performance, and a good night's entertainment may be anticipated. The performance begins at nine o'clock, and launches will leave Blake Pier at 8.30 for Kowloon.

The annual procession of the Cross in this Colony takes place next Sunday at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception. High solemn Mass will be celebrated at 8 a.m. by the Rector of the Cathedral assisted by the clergy. About 5 p.m. the procession will go round the spacious compound of the Cathedral, accompanied by the Band of the "Societate Philharmonica." The Secretary of the Bishop of Macao, Rev. Fr. A. M. M. Sacramento, will preach a sermon at the close of the procession.

Chinese rice-dealers in Java are expecting heavy losses, as the market is considerably overstocked.

A boatman appeared before Mr. J. H. Kemp at the Magistracy yesterday on charges of making fast to a launch, while under way, carrying excess passengers, and failing to stop when hailed by the police. Fines aggregating $12 were imposed.

It has been suggested that a fiftieth show should be held in Singapore towards the latter part of the year. A meeting to make the necessary arrangements for the proposed show was to be held, by kind permission of Mr. E. G. Broadrick, in the Municipal board room, on Wednesday last. Lady Evelyn Young had kindly promised to preside at the meeting. The proceeds of the show will be given to charity.

The Times is back from its brief trip to England, refreshed and better for the visit, as an editorial in the Morning News after that paper had been turned over for two issues, to visiting English journalists. It is a very good time and it is very grateful to its guides—Messrs. Lloyd, Bains, Ramsay, Hicks and Johnson-Lee. England is a very nice place, old, conservative, rock-ribbed and generally wholesome, but nevertheless it is good to be back. The Times had two or three invitations to stay in the Old Country but decided to return at once.

Of the three chief towns of Java—Betawie, Sourabaya and Samarang—the last named is the most unhealthy. Dr. De Vogel, the Principal Civil Medical Officer of the town, says that Samarang has a heavy death-rate which, in some seasons, reaches the enormous figure of 500 per 1,000. The houses are mostly bad and insanitary, and the drainage system falls far short of requirements. In the outskirts of the town there is plenty of high-lying land suitable for building, but unhappily the Chinese have been allowed to mark them off into cemeteries. The dead hand now stops the extension of the town in healthier ground. The Municipality is at a loss how to remedy matters, and has appointed a committee to consider the question. The situation has become intolerable. Dead Chinese occupy land solely acquired by living Europeans and natives who are dying in the larger towns.

A VISITOR TO FALCONER'S

Before Mr. J. H. Kemp at the Magistracy yesterday a native was prosecuted on charges of stealing or attempting to steal a watch chain valued at $100 from Messrs. G. Falconer and Co., jewellers, Hotel Mandarins.

Sergeant Gerrard conducted the case for the prosecution, and Mr. Otto Kong Sing appeared for the defendant.

Mr. T. Meek, Manager of Messrs. Falconer and Co., stated that on Saturday afternoon, the 27th ultimo, the defendant accompanied by another man, entered the shop and asked to see a gold chain. Witness produced three chains one of which defendant picked up and asked its price. Whilst witness was looking at the price, defendant picked up the other two chains. Witness said the price of the chain was $60. Then defendant pulled a second chain out of his hand and asked the price of that. The third at this time was up his sleeve, but the companion was watching him and defendant shook it down again.

In cross-examination witness said he was suspicious when he saw the defendant and his friend enter the shop. He watched closely all the time, because the defendant was watching him. Witness did not know whether defendant or his friend had the money to pay for a chain.

Sergeant Gerrard deposed to searching complainant when he was taken to the police station, and finding $3.31 in his possession.

Mr. Kong Sing submitted that it was no offence to go into a shop to price chains. The evidence was not sufficient for his Worship, as Mr. Meek admitted that he was very suspicious when the man entered the shop.

His Worship was of opinion that there was a prima facie case.

Defendant was called and stated that he entered complainant's shop to purchase a watch chain. Several chains were shown him, and defendant asked the price of one, but as complainant replied in English witness did not understand. A Chinese then told him to go away, and he put the chains on the counter, and left. Defendant was a resident of Macao, and was on his way to Shanghai.

In reply to his Worship, defendant said the other man was his cousin, but he did not know where he was to be found. When he came from Macao he stayed at Yamusi for a night. Mr. Meek, recalled, said he did not remember his interpreter telling the defendant to go away. His Worship held the defendant guilty, and sentenced him to three months' imprisonment with hard labour.

THE BANDMANN OPERA COMPANY.

The Bandmann Opera Company achieved another success last night when they presented a dramatised version in four acts of Rudyard Kipling's famous book "The Light that Failed." The cast was particularly strong. Mr. Douglas Vigners taking the principal part of Dick Holder, the artist, and Miss Florence Hamer supporting him in the role of Mabel, who also had artistic aspirations. The other characters were admirably portrayed. To-night's performance concludes the present season.

["DAILY PRESS" EXCLUSIVE SERVICE.]

JAPAN'S CONGRATULATIONS.

Tokyo, March 4th.

On the occasion of the inauguration of the new President of the United States congratulatory messages were sent to Mr. Taft by the Emperor, Prince Ito, and Count Katsura.

(REUTERS' SERVICE TO THE "HONGKONG
DAILY PRESS.")

THE PROPOSED DEATH
DUTIES IN GERMANY.

LONDON, March 3rd.

Prince Bulow has been encountering vigorous opposition from his nominal supporters, particularly the Agrarians, to the proposed death duties, which the Finance Committee of the Reichstag rejected yesterday.

Efforts are being made to find a substitute to meet the increased expenditure.

GREAT BRITAIN AND AERIAL NAVIGATION.

LONDON, March 3rd.

The Rt. Hon. Mr. Asquith, Prime Minister, has informed the House of Commons that the subject of aerial navigation had occupied the attention of the Government, and provision has been made in the Navy and Army Estimates to ensure that the problem of the use of airships in warfare would be fully investigated by both departments.

PRESIDENT TAFT'S IN AUGURAL ADDRESS.ENDORSEMENT OF THE ROOSEVELT POLICIES.

LONDON, March 4th.

The first section of President Taft's inaugural address endorses generally the policies of President Roosevelt regarding Trusts, Inter-State Commerce and Federal Supervision of Railways.

TARIFF REVISION.

The President states that he will convene a special session of Congress on the 13th inst. to consider a Bill for revising the Dingley Tariff. This should secure an adequate revenue and protect home industries by a tariff equal to the difference between cost of production at home and abroad. It is thought that present conditions permit a reduction in certain schedules and require the advancement of few, if any.

The expenditure during the current year will exceed the receipts by one hundred million dollars, and the framers of the Tariff must endeavour to secure an adequate income.

NAVAL AND MILITARY.

President Taft urges the maintenance of a highly efficient Army and Navy. A strong Navy, he says, is the best conservator of peace and the best defence of the nation's interests. "Our policy," he adds, "is always to promote peace, and favour every instrumentality like the Hague Tribunal of Arbitration, and Treaties tending to avoid war; but with all nations armed for war we must be so ourselves to prevent others taking advantage of us."

In international controversies likely to arise in the Orient in connection with the "open door" and other issues the United States can maintain her interests intact and secure respect for her just demands, but not if she is prepared to back up her interests and rights by diplomacy only. Therefore the expenses of the Army and Navy should not be curtailed for the sake of mere economy.

LATER.

RACIAL PREJUDICES.

In the second and last section of his address, Mr. Taft says the United States should make every effort towards preventing humiliating prohibition on account of race or religion against our citizens wishing temporarily to sojourn in foreign countries.

ASIATIC IMMIGRATION.

Mr. Taft also sincerely hopes that they may continue to minimise the evils likely to arise from Asiatic immigration without unnecessary friction, by mutual concessions between self-respecting Governments. Meantime we must take every precaution to prevent or punish outbreaks of race feeling and foreigners possessing treaty rights and pursuing lawful businesses in America should be protected from lawlessness.

FEDERAL AUTHORITY TO BE STRENGTHENED.

Mr. Taft strongly urges legislation enabling the Federal Executive to enforce the treaty rights of aliens in Federal courts and insists that we should not permit the consequences of local prejudice to expose us to the risk of war.

CURRENCY REFORM.

The President also dwells on the need of reform in the monetary and banking laws with a view to securing greater elasticity of currency.

AMERICAN FOREIGN TRADE.

He also expresses the hope that Congress will encourage American foreign trade, especially with the Orient. The Philippines are making most satisfactory progress, as is also the Panama Canal.

IMPROVEMENT OF THE NEGRO.

Finally, the President strongly advocates the industrial and intellectual improvement of the negro.

THE PRESIDENT'S SALARY.

LONDON, March 4th.

Both the Senate and the House of Representatives have agreed to the raising of the President's salary to $75,000.

KING EDWARD LEAVES FOR BIARRITZ.

LONDON, March 4th.

The King starts for Biarritz to-day. It is announced that His Majesty goes to Biarritz on account of his health. As in 1908, the doctors have advised His Majesty to remain out of England during the months of March and April.

PACIFIC BASE AT HONGKONG.

Lord Strathearn, having written to the London Morning Post respecting his allegations regarding the measure garrison and neglected state of Esquimaux, and calling attention to the answers to Mr. Ralph Smith's questions in the Dominion of Commons on January 15th, 1909, the Post declares that Sir Frederick Borden's replies practically endorse all its statements.

The Morning Post notes from these answers the significant feature that the responsibility for the undergirding of Esquimaux is shifted from the Canadian Militia Department to the British War Office, which, however, is in close communication with Sir Frederick Borden.

The crux of the situation, it says, is in effect the complete uncertainty which still characterises the whole direction likely to be taken by developments on the Pacific. At present the authorities are engaged in watching these developments, the utmost deliberation being exercised prior to a definitive choice of a permanent British military base on the Pacific. Lately the garrison of Hongkong has been increased, and it has appeared to careful observers as though the Army Council had definitely decided to make this the Pacific base. Its choice may doubtless be criticised on strategic grounds but such arguments do not affect the present issue. Should the Army Council in conference with the Defence Committee decide on development further afield in the Pacific, doubtless this decision will be arrived at in view of the interests of the defence of the Empire as a whole.

TANG SHAO YI'S RECEPTION BY THE KING.

The King's reception of his Excellency Tang Shao Yi, the Chinese Special Envoy, at Buckingham Palace is described in the London papers as follows:—

The envoy, who was accompanied by the Chinese Minister, Li Ching Feng, the Duke Tsai and a Taoist, arrived at the Palace shortly after half-past eleven in an electric brougham.

In the absence of Sir Edward Grey, Sir Charles Hardinge, Permanent Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, was present to introduce him to the King.

His Majesty wore the uniform of a Field Marshal, and was attended by a numerous suite in levee dress. Amongst those present were Lord Suffolk, Lord-in-Waiting, Hon. Montagu Elliot, Groom-in-Waiting, and Colonel Frits Ponsonby, Equerry, and the Hon. Arthur Walsh, Master of the Ceremonies.

The interview was very brief. The envoy who is in England for the purpose of studying financial and economic questions, was it understood, the bearer of an autograph letter for his Majesty from the Emperor of China.

His Excellency will this evening be entertained at dinner at the Legation by the Chinese Minister, but as the Chinese Court is in mourning the party will be a small one, and the proceedings private.

THE CANTON-HANKOW RAILWAY.

THE QUESTION OF OFFICIAL CONTROL.

The Nine Charitable Institutions, the Canton General Chamber of Commerce and the 72 Trades Guild have telegraphed the following petition to His Excellency Chang Chi Tung, Chief Superintendent of the Canton-Hankow Railway of the three Provinces:—

"Your Excellency has delegated Taoist Wong Ping Yau to superintend the construction of the Kwangtung section of the Canton-Hankow Railway and to reside permanently in Canton. Some time ago we received a cablegram from your Excellency stating that your main object and desire is that the President of the Canton section of the Railway will use his influence to protect the interests of the Railway Company and that he will be held responsible for a proper exercise of his discretion in employing men to deal with the financial affairs of the Company. Your Excellency cannot be aware of the innumerable troubles and difficulties in regard to the construction of the railway in this province which we are now compelled to explain fully to you. When the Railway was redeemed from the American Development Company it was agreed that the gentry and the merchants were to construct it. This was entirely due to your efforts and we are extremely thankful to you for your kindness. We undertook the responsibility of constructing the Kwangtung section of the railway, and consequently an Imperial Edict was issued sanctioning this arrangement. The terms and conditions for this section are quite different from those of Hupoh and Hunan. After the Edict was issued the different charitable Institutions started to collect the call-due on the first instalment of the shares on condition that if the merchants, proved incapable of constructing the railway themselves, or if they should fail to construct the railway they (the Charitable Institutions) would refund the monies paid to the Company by the shareholders. These conditions were embodied in a memorial to the Throne and officially recorded in Peking. The dissatisfaction formerly created over the construction of this railway was mainly due to the officials having a hand in the management of affairs. Now that your Excellency has authorised the establishment of a Government Bureau to superintend the construction of the Railway, it will be extremely difficult to allay the suspicions of the public, and we fear we shall not be able to collect the third instalment of the shares. Moreover there are many shareholders who seize this as a pretext for demanding the return of their money, and trouble may therefore ensue.

"The people moreover will lose confidence in the Charitable Institutions who cannot take the responsibility of refunding such a huge sum of money. All this is contrary to what has been agreed upon between the merchants and the Government. This section is the most important part of the Canton-Hankow Railway. Both Chinese and Foreigners have had their attention drawn to this matter. Now that it is in full operation a change is detrimental and the people cannot consent to a change. Besides telegraphing this to your Excellency, the 72 Guilds and the Charitable Institutions have held a meeting and addressed a petition to the Viceroy of Canton bearing the signs of all the signatories. With regard to the management of the Company it is difficult to please everybody. If there is a dishonest servant in the Company let the proof be produced and he will be immediately dismissed and replaced by another man appointed by the shareholders. But for small faults the Company's interests should not be neglected. This is a joint petition sent by the signatories for your personal consideration and they hope you will see your way to abolish this Superintending Bureau and the whole province will be grateful to you for ever."

LAUNCH AT KOWLOON.

The tenth shallow-draft vessel built for the Imperial Chinese Navy by Messrs. W. S. Bailey & Co., Ltd., was yesterday duly completed when Admiral Li Chun and his staff took over the motor boat Tin On from the builders yard in Kowloon Bay.

The Tin On is a tankwood vessel 83 feet in length fitted with twin kerosene Gardner motors of one hundred horse power. She has two decks, the lower deck comprising saloon and two staterooms, motor space, pantry with cooking range, native and European gallery and crew's quarters. On the upper deck is fitted the Admiral's state-room with bath and lavatory and the captain and officers' rooms and servants' quarters.

Electric lights, bells and electric fans are fitted throughout the vessel and these with the bedding, cutlery, crockery and electric plate are supplied by the builders of the very highest class. The side light and masthead lights of the vessel are also electric.

The forward part of the upper deck is fitted with a dining table, having electric light clusters overhead and is intended for the entertainment of the Admiral's guests in the summer.

The Tin On will be mounted with four quick firing guns and will carry a crew of twenty-five men. On the official trial which was attended by His Excellency the Admiral, the vessel attained a speed of 19-1/2 statute miles per hour on a draft of twenty-four inches of water.

SIX CHINAMEN SHOT DEAD.

Reuter's Johannesburg correspondent telegraphs that a riot occurred recently at the Village Deep Mine. Owing to a misunderstanding of the interpreter in connection with the Chinese New Year holidays, the Chinese refused to work, finally breaking up the compound. The police were twice driven back by the coolies, and were forced to use their arms. Six Chinamen were shot dead and fifteen were wounded.
